
Colored bars mark measured crystal fillings only. Gray does not denote a physical phase.
Dotted segments extrapolate below measured transport temperatures; no phase boundaries are inferred between fillings.